

General linear methods for Volterra integral equations

Prof. Zdzislaw Jackiewicz

Arizona State University

We investigate the class of general linear methods of order p and stage order $q = p$ for the numerical solution of Volterra integral equations of the second kind.

Construction of highly stable methods based on the Schur criterion is described and examples of methods of order one and two which are A-stable and have large regions of stability with respect to the convolution test equation are given.